

Babak Mirzazadeh

Transportation and Logistics Graduate Student

Program: Transportation Infrastructure and Capacity Planning

Hometown: Tehran (Iran)

What do you like to do in your spare time? I like hiking, camping, fishing, watching movies, and hanging out with friends.

What are some of your past/current research interests? I'm interested in conducting research in the fields of Travel Demand Analysis, Intersection and Highway Capacity Analysis, Asset Management and ITS.

How did you become interested in your field of study? When I was studying during my bachelor's degree, I became familiar with courses such as Transportation Engineering and Principles of Traffic Engineering. These courses captured my interest to delve deeper into this field.

What are your goals or future plans? I'm interested in conducting research and becoming a faculty member.