

David Reesman is from Fort Meade, SD. He earned his B.S. from Indiana University of Pennsylvania in criminal justice with a minor in political science. He is currently working towards a masters in logistics management. Reesman served in numerous combat tours and commanded the 128th Brigade support battalion. His military career in logistics led to working in logistics in the Veterans Administration after retiring from the U.S. Army. In his spare time he likes biking and hiking and enjoying motorcycles and vintage cars.